

Some Gay Husbands Like To Use CraigsList Gay Personals

(This page has very adult content and may be very sickening to some people. Reader discretion is advised. Proceed with caution.)

For those women who are still in denial about the possibility of their husbands being able to establish sexual liaisons without their knowing because they can account for their husbands' movements 24/7, we think you could use a large dose of Craigslist. We decided it was time to check it out because so many women in our support network told us that their husbands were using it. And so we went to www.Craigslist.com, clicked on my city, and then the personal ads came up. Under personals, there is "Men Seeking Men."

Next we clicked into the list. After waiving that we are older than 18 years old, we were able to immediately access the site. Then we typed in "married man" and the list populated. It was fast for sure.

Some of the ads were pretty racy and some were downright scary—at least from the point of view that these were husbands, fathers, brothers and sons, seeking sex from complete strangers and some agreeing to bring them into the marital home for sexual liaisons. Here are a few we thought would help to get the picture clearer. They say what you don't know can really hurt you. See for yourself. (forgive the explicit wording as we tried to use only the very tame ones for our examples.)

They are so bold.

Here is another one, and I am only using the very tame ones.

55 MBGM, not out, looking for married man to orally service with no recip. Men with a hairy chest and legs are a plus. Enjoy a verbal man that could turn into a regular. Can host on occasion (wife in a nurse and travels for job) but required utmost discretion. Send stats and availability. Pic not required but accepted.

What caught my eye with this ad was the complete and utter disregard for the violation of the family house while his wife was away on business trips. I guess men like this really lack a conscience. It's bad enough to cheat, but it really angers me when men are cheating in their marital bed.

Then I looked at the next ad:

First off ddfree (meaning drug and disease free). I am married. Working here for a couple months. Wife & kids back home in JA. Looking to hook up with decent guy with no pressure, mostly mutual oral. Affection, kissing, anal, rim..all optional. Be healthy, no drugs, prefer no smoke, and impeccably clean and disease free. Just need some nice man time while here working. I'm six, 190, hairy, shaved head, goatee, 6.5 uc(meaning uncircumsized)Versatile (meaning gives and takes penis)Avail evenings mostly. Meet? Couple beers at a sports bar? Married Church man a plus. Personality, friendship, discretion A+. Photo exchange PLEASE and information.

This ad came with a very graphic penis picture. If you were the wife of this man, you would definitely be able to recognize it—if you remember what it looks like. Then again, the way it is proudly standing erect, you may not recognize it because sadly, it may have never been in that pose for you.

Another one of our support network members, did some of her own research on her local Craig's list. Here are a couple of the ads that she found:

Searching for another inexperienced married man for friendship and more.

Date: 2011-08-13, 12:17PM

Hi, I have been searching for a friend for some time but have yet to meet anyone. I am 48 years old 6'2 and 220 lbs, have been told I am descent looking. I have no experience with another man but want to try everything with the right person. I have a great job and family so discretion is a must. I prefer that you not have any experience either and be married. I would like it if our wives knew we were friends, that would make getting together easier. Anyway, let me know about you and what you are looking for.

What really bothered me about this ad was the level of deception that a supposedly inexperienced gay married man (although I for one don't believe it) is looking for another inexperienced gay married man which would be one thing—but that's not enough. He wants their wives to know they are friends so they can get together more easily. I find this totally sociopathic that this man has no regard for misleading two wives into his upcoming infidelity.

Here was another winning ad sent to me:

Hot Married Professional Looking for Regular Bud

Date: 2011-05-11, 9:54AM

I am a good looking chocolate colored married male who loves his family but enjoys intimacy with another masculine guy who also has a family he loves.

I am 6', 190, good shape, good looking. You must be in good shape and a family man who is masculine. Church going man a plus. I would hope it could develop into something long term...I have had that before and it is very fulfilling. A relationship with the right guy can really complete your married life.

I think that last statement is pretty profound—the way to complete a gay man's married life is to have a boyfriend so he can have two lives--one of course who is masculine. Yep, that should make your marriage complete for sure.

What I find really interesting is that so many of these ads are posted during the day when your husband is at work. Look at the times. Hopefully you'll start thinking about what your husband is really doing at work.

And for those of you who want to become believers instead of living in limbo or sitting on the fence (of barbed wire), spend a few days on Craigslist. Maybe you'll find your husband there. If he's going out of town, check the city where he is going. Chances are, you'll find him then.

STORY

One woman went searching for evidence that she is not going crazy. Her gay husband kept telling her she is crazy every time she found another incriminating piece of evidence, that suggests he is practicing gay lifestyle behaviors. She ended up looking on Craigslist after reading a text message he received while sleeping.

She did not look long for her to find a picture of him with an erect penis in hand. His face was not shown but she recognized a prominent birth mark he is so very proud of. Also she said, she had a very hard time believing the penis was his, as she cannot remember seeing it that erect, she was however able to identify the family den, the furniture in the background and the picture on the wall. He had someone took the picture of him nude, at home. She made a copy of the craigslist add and he was busted for sure. His lies stopped working and she said she felt so relieved, as now she knew for sure she was not going crazy.

So many women are told that they are crazy when they confront their gay husbands about evidence of gay sexual behavior. Don't ever believe you are alone, and you are not crazy.
